

ABSTRACT

A method for determining the current state of a lubricant for lubrication of at least two frictional coupling elements capable of cooperating to transmit a torque by comparing reference slip characteristics associated with particular operating conditions with current slip characteristics of the coupling elements is disclosed.

THIS PAGE CONTAINS ONE OR MORE TRADE SECRETS OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT. IT IS UNCLASSIFIED BY [REDACTED]